Patient Centered Care
- Coordinated cancer services in one location
- Non-moving patient model of care where all care and services come to the patient
- 34% more patients treated in Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center
- 1,148 additional infusion treatments per year
- 12 additional private patient rooms
- 1 large infusion room with 8 infusion chairs
- Family room

Survivorship
- Continuity of care
- Educational series and materials
- Mental health support groups
- One on one mental health support
- Nurse practitioner visits
- Integrative therapies
- Financial assistance
- Survivorship report included in medical records
- Survivorship celebration

Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center was recognized with an Outstanding Achievement Award from the American College of Surgeons’ Commission on Cancer. The award acknowledges cancer programs for achieving excellence in providing care to cancer patients. Only 75 cancer programs in the United States share the same distinction.

For more information about the center and its services, contact Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center at 952-993-3248.

Your legacy will help provide the resources necessary to continue providing exceptional care and support to patients with cancer. For more information about how you can donate to Park Nicollet Foundation’s Love and Legacy Campaign and build a better future for patients with cancer and cancer survivors, contact Park Nicollet Foundation at 952-993-5023 or foundation@parknicollet.com.

“...so proud of the treatment I received at Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center that I want to share this place with all cancer patients. I loved the privacy and all the TLC and understanding that goes into treatment here. Everyone should have access to a place like Frauenshuh Cancer Center..."
Creating a legacy of love

Our lives are defined by the things we love and the love that we leave behind. A cancer diagnosis is often life changing. This not only has a significant impact on patients themselves but, also their families and friends. While they learn to cope with a new normal, many patients are understandably overwhelmed.

Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center offers the support needed to help patients and their families through both their physical and emotional journey. Our patient care model and resources are designed to heal the body, mind and spirit through exceptional medical care and integrative therapies. Our non-moving patient model brings care and services directly to our patients in their own rooms, helping to conserve energy for healing.

Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center is proud of the world-class care provided and committed to building a lasting legacy of innovative compassionate care that will grow with our community’s needs. Our vision for the Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center includes an expansion of our patient-centered model of care and the continued development of our Survivorship Program to address the special emotional and spiritual needs of cancer survivors.

With your help, we can transform our love into a lasting legacy that will change the lives of patients with cancer and their families for generations.

Expanding patient-centered care

As more and more patients choose Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center for their oncology care, the need for space and services continues to grow. Since opening in 2009, Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center has seen an eight percent increase in patients seeking the high-quality, patient-centered care and healing environment provided at the cancer center.

Due to the increase in patient volumes and infusion services, we have outgrown our existing space and have had to resort to sending 34 percent of our patients to overflow areas across Methodist Hospital and throughout our care system.

This delays care, causes disruptions in patient care continuity, limits access to services, and diminishes the enhanced patient experience promised and provided by donor generosity.

With your help, we seek to expand our patient-centered space in order to ensure all patients will benefit from our non-moving, patient-centered model of care. $3.5 million goal

Guiding the way to a new life

Breast cancer survivor Rose.

Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center’s focus on patient well-being allowed me to create my own healing environment. I wanted to make the best of my chemo treatments and have fun. Because of the time, specialized care and space provided by Frauenshuh Cancer Center, my friends, family and I were able to create the setting I needed to heal. There was always laughter – never sadness.

50% of oncology psychiatry patients are post-treatment cancer survivors

70% average survivorship rate at Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center

Completing an initial course of cancer treatment for patients is both a relief and a source of anxiety. The number of individuals in the United States who have a personal history of cancer has tripled over the past three decades. This staggering growth has prompted a national movement to improve the way our health care systems provide care to cancer survivors.

Cancer survivors need to be knowledgeable about the type of cancer they have, the type of treatment they have received and the potential late side effects of the treatment they received. They also need emotional support to help them understand and cope with the illness they have overcome.

The Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center Survivorship program is an essential extension of our patient-centered care and demand for the program is rapidly growing.

With your help, our Survivorship Program will grow to provide all patients and families with the support they need to transition from treatment to life after cancer.

$500,000 goal

10% of oncology psychiatry patients are post-treatment cancer survivors

50% average survivorship rate at Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center

70% of oncology psychiatry patients are post-treatment cancer survivors

With your help, we seek to expand our patient-centered space in order to ensure all patients will benefit from our non-moving, patient-centered model of care. $3.5 million goal

Breast cancer survivor Rose.

Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center’s focus on patient well-being allowed me to create my own healing environment. I wanted to make the best of my chemo treatments and have fun. Because of the time, specialized care and space provided by Frauenshuh Cancer Center, my friends, family and I were able to create the setting I needed to heal. There was always laughter – never sadness.

With your help, our Survivorship Program will grow to provide all patients and families with the support they need to transition from treatment to life after cancer.

$500,000 goal

10% of oncology psychiatry patients are post-treatment cancer survivors

50% average survivorship rate at Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center

70% of oncology psychiatry patients are post-treatment cancer survivors

"...When you have been through cancer, you become more sensitive to the pain of others. You have been through it, understand that you have to live with it and start living your life again. You need to do the things you can do and accept the things you can’t. Life goes on."

Vietnam veteran and 12-year cancer survivor Ronald with his wife Brenda.

Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center’s focus on patient well-being allowed me to create my own healing environment. I wanted to make the best of my chemo treatments and have fun. Because of the time, specialized care and space provided by Frauenshuh Cancer Center, my friends, family and I were able to create the setting I needed to heal. There was always laughter – never sadness.

$500,000 goal

10% of oncology psychiatry patients are post-treatment cancer survivors

50% average survivorship rate at Park Nicollet Frauenshuh Cancer Center

70% of oncology psychiatry patients are post-treatment cancer survivors

"...When you have been through cancer, you become more sensitive to the pain of others. You have been through it, understand that you have to live with it and start living your life again. You need to do the things you can do and accept the things you can’t. Life goes on."